

Bob Edwards Says That People Are Godless

Bob Edwards, in his August, 1951 issue of the Ex-Operative, makes a good word for the civilizing influence of spinsters. He has some practical advice to offer on how to avoid the nasty habit of snoring, and gives one of his typical authentic pot pourri on the boiling of the political pot down in Old Ontario.

Ex-Operative Aug. 10
Last Trivia Planted

The lost tribe of Israel in the dishevelled shape of Galicians and Doukhobours are getting the south branch of the C. and E. into condition, ballasting with gravel and giving it complete overhauling. The immunity from accidents which the road has had is due to the incessant watchfulness of Niblock, superintendent, who is for ever on the prowl.

Oh, For a Spinster!

We have reached the conclusion that the reason married men make so few breaks compared with single men is because their wives interfere with their freedom of action of themselves. This is a sound argument in favor of matrimony. Therefore, bring on your spinsters, and in bringing bring nothing but spinsters and spinsters. Oh, for a spinster! It's love that makes the world go round, and marriage keeps it on the square.

To avoid snoring, Nana darling don't sleep with your mouth open. When you find yourself doing so, get up and shut it. If ever you marry a snoring husband, prop your back against the wall, raise your knees, and plant your feet on his back. Then, assuming strength out. When he picks himself off the floor, his snoring will practically cease.

Are We a Godly People?

The premier has been taking a fall out of a minister who stated in a sermon that the people of the West were a godless people. We feel that the minister is ill-informed. Most of the people consist of ten men in the West, and in the tie too, also in the North and in the South. That being the case, we are good, indeed. Money is the only god we seem to recognize, openly, honestly and sincerely, the most devoutly worshipped in these parts. We are anything but godless.

In The Interest of the Party

An amusing illustration of another party's platform was recently noted in the Paisley (Ont.) Clarion, a Grit organ. The paper went broke a short time ago, and the man who owned the mortgage, a rabid Grit, undertook to run the paper himself. He is said to be a rough, ungodly sort of fellow, and the paper is but a faithful portal of the Toronto Globe gave him an idea how an editorial should be written from the Grit standpoint. He thought the proper thing to do was to lambaste every statement uttered by a Conservative.

For respectability's sake, he started going to church, and then made a horrible discovery that the minister was a Tory. This was his first editorial:

"It is a sad commentary on the alleged civilization of Paisley that a preacher in one of our most prominent houses of worship should be a dyed-in-the-wool Tory. We paid a visit to the minister and got a pretty shrewd line on the Rev. Thompson's platform. He has not one sound plank to stand on."

The proposition laid down by him were of the flimsiest nature and will not stand up to the inspection of intelligent men. He quoted something he called the "Beautiful Word," which apparently means theological politics. He will have to do better than that if he expects his party to be seen in power. These sentiments may be a part of the new conservative policies, but they are fundamentally antagonistic to all that the good Liberal party has stood for since 1870.

The second plank on Thompson's platform is "Blessed are the poor in spirit," no doubt having reference to the world-wide movement toward prohibition. We feel sure that the intelligent electorate will have none of this nonsense. It is bad without making the whole world bad.

His second plank obviously anti-

Kill Weeds With HERBATE 2,4-D

Prairie farmers report increased yields of 4 to 6 bushels per acre by killing out weeds with HERBATE 2,4-D. Yet as little as 10¢ worth of HERBATE 2,4-D is enough to treat an acre... an average cost of only 7¢ to 10¢ per extra bushel.

HERBATE 2,4-D

makes weed control easy and economical

Because of HERBATE's high 2,4-D Acid content, as little as 2% to 3% of a pint per acre assures effective, low-cost weed control. HERBATE 2,4-D kills sensitive weeds outright, keeps even tough ones under control. HERBATE 2,4-D helps to conserve moisture, increases yields, reduces dockage.

HISTORY OF AGRICULTURE

Agriculture is one of the oldest of all the modern industries. The need for food over the centuries has been a great motivator of human endeavor—for man must eat. As to when agriculture and stock-feeding originated, only an approximate answer can be given. What we do know we possess is circumstantial rather than direct, being partly archaeological and partly botanical and zoological. The earliest cultivation of plants, many, many centuries before the birth of Christ, consisted in sowing the seeds of various plants, saving them in suitable soil, and by care and attention promoting their growth. The wild prototypes of wheat and barley are believed to be the first plants to be cultivated, as they both produce edible cereal seeds. Thousands of years later man found the fundamental principle that plants and animals could be made to reproduce their kind under this control.

The Egyptian calendar was introduced in 4236 B.C. The calendar was called forth by the needs of agriculture, particularly the calendar of Mars, the god who opened crops long before his name became associated with war; April from Aperilis, the budding month, and May after Maia, the goddess of growth.

Through the ages, since the time of the Phoenicians, the shepherds of the Bible, whose history roughly began about 3000 B.C., the advancement of agriculture was extremely slow. By far the greatest progress has been made in very recent years.

For those who are interested in history, fascinating tales have been written of the growth of agriculture over the centuries. No other industry or way of life in the world offers so romantic a history, so rich a lore of absorbing stories, as does agriculture.

WHEAT BOARD SETS INITIAL PRICE FOR '51 CROP

Trade Minister Howe has announced the Canadian Wheat Board's initial price for wheat in the coming crop year will be $1.40 a bushel—the same as last year.

The initial price for oats will be 65 cents—also unchanged—and that for barley will be 96¢ a bushel—three cents higher than the present year.

The new crop year starts August first.

The wheat price was based on No. 1 Northern at Fort William, Port Arthur and Vancouver. The oats price is based on No. 2 Can. Western grain at Brandon.

Mr. Howe said that the previous practice will be followed in making an interim payment—after the initial payment—just before seeding of the following year's crop if this is possible. The final payment will come at the end of the crop year at July 31, 1951.

In determining the amount of the interim payment, he said, "sound pool practice" was being followed in setting it at a safe level well below current prices.

Also from Ottawa it was learned that western oil organizations seeking an additional $48,000,000 payment for wheat sold in 1945-47 have been told by Prime Minister St. Laurent that they have received payment "in full."

BE FREE FROM HELP PROBLEMS Mechanize with Massey-Harris Machines

Manpower is not too plentiful—in fact good, experienced farm help is downright scarce even at the present high wage rates. Industry needs manpower for armament production and making of civilian goods and the armed forces are recruiting to bring their units up to strength in the new program.

Yet food production must be maintained in these busy and critical times in spite of the shortage and high cost of farm help.

Mechanization is helping more and more farmers to get work done when it should be done—farmers are proving easy-operating, fast-working machinery to be their most dependable help. From the complete line of Massey-Harris equipment you can select machines that will help you master the help problem.

OIL MAKES A COUNTRY STRONG

THE ROUGHNECKS ARE MOVING ON!

In the language of the oil fields, "roughnecks" are the men of the drilling crews who probe deep in the earth for oil. You'll find them in any oil field doing the hard tedious work that goes into the drilling of every well.

But roughnecks like it best when the going is toughest and most exciting—when they move on to search for oil where it has never been found. In Alberta the odds are against them, only one wildcat well in 20 is likely to be successful.

Working against these odds, roughnecks' drills have tapped more than a billion barrels of new oil in Alberta since 1947, bringing new prosperity and new security to all Canada. In fact Canadians now produce one in every three barrels they use—but we still must depend on foreign countries for the other two. To be self-sufficient we must have three times our present reserves.

The roughnecks keep moving on in the unending search for oil. As they succeed they benefit and strengthen the entire nation.

SEEDING GRASSES

With adequate moisture this spring it would seem the ideal time to seed down that field to grass that you have been planning on for pasture or hay. Bromegrass will not flow freely by itself through a drill, but will do so if seeded with some nurse crop such as oats. Set the drill so that you will be seeding about one bushel per acre.

Crested Wheat Grass and Creeping Red Fescue will also do well when seeded in this fashion.

How Much To Plant

	Broadcast
Brome	14 lbs.
Timothy	7 lbs.
Creeping Red Fescue	10 lbs.
Crested Wheat Grass	12 lbs.
Sweet Clover	12 lbs.
Oats	9 lbs.

You can seed this with a tiller providing you can set it for sowing. You can also provide your soil does not pack too hard, if a pounding rain occurs before emergence of the seedlings, it is well to get out and break the sur-

RESEARCHERS TRYING TO FIND
METHOD TO INCREASE SPRUCE

A research project with the objective of finding the best method to increase the growth of Alberta spruce started this month in the Fairview area, about 12 miles north west of Smith.

The project is being conducted by the Department of Resources and Development of the Government of Canada in co-operation with the Alberta Department of Lands and Forests and a large lumber company. A tract of 140 acres has been set aside for the experiment.

Spruce is the chief product of Alberta's lumber industry, flourishes in areas where well-drained and heavily-mossed soil is available to hold moisture. Although lumber companies are required by law to cut new lumber stands according to regulations specifying stand and development of the tree cut. In some areas the felling of mature trees has not had the desired effect of accelerating the growth of young trees.

The area in which the project is being carried on contains a mixed stand of spruce, balsam fir, 40 percent poplar and 60 percent cedar. The trees vary in age from 100 to 250 years. Estimated yield of the spruce at present would be from 5,000 to 20,000 f.b.m. per acre.

For the purpose of the experiment, 24 of the finest patches of growing spruce are being selected and combined into three blocks of six patches each. Mature trees in each patch will be cut to a separate and distinct pattern and studied over a period to determine which pattern permits best growth in the trees.

Trees left standing will be measured immediately after logging and again after a year. They will be measured again at the end of one year, then five years, and again every ten years until maturity.

When the best cutting methods are found, the Department of Lands and Forests will see that lumber companies cut to this pattern. In this way, Alberta's spruce industry, which during 1950 produced 283,000,000 board feet, can be maintained and expanded in the future.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The self-evident truth that the greater cannot be confined within the lesser will be elucidated Sunday in Christian Science churches. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Soul and Body," and it includes the following passages: "And Jesus went unto the centurion. Go thy way; thy servant is healed; as he done unto thee. And his servant was healed in the selfsame hour" (Matthew 8:13). "Our proportionate admission of the claims of good or evil determines the harmony of our existence—our health, our longevity, and our Christianity" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 167).

BURNSIDE NOTES

The blast at the Olds-Bailey No. 1 oil well in this district early Saturday morning sounded like thunder, and people nearby and students looked out about 12:30 a.m. to see flames shooting away up in the air and it was an amazing sight in the dead of night. Cattle were frightened and went madly about near-by fields, but we are all happy at the oil possibilities in Burnsides.
